Nanoforum VIII Edition

Nanoforum reaches its eighth edition this year, confirming itself as a first-rate meeting for research centres and enterprises working for innovation through nanotechnology.

Nanoforum is not only a scientific conference, but a concrete moment to transfer the knowledge from the academic world to the entrepreneurial one, for a positive use of micro, nano and advanced technologies, that fosters new partnerships between Research and Business.

TO IMPROVE BUSINESS

Controlling matter at atomic scale makes micro and nanotechnologies a research field which contributes to innovation of both industrial products and processes. Nanoforum 2012 gives you the opportunity to keep up with the times: tutorials provide a simple but detailed overview of micro and nanotechnology research and its importance for business while the conference sessions show the most advanced results in the field.

Aerospace, agro-food, automotive, cultural heritage, devices, construction, energy & environment, financing, materials, nanomedicine and safety are some of the application areas you could know joining nanoforum.

TO SHOW CONCRETE RESULTS

Nanoforum wants to give to the best researches in micro and nanotechnology the right opportunity to be known. By communicating solutions during the two-day conference and by realizing posters and exhibition stands, Italian and foreign research centres, companies, science parks and universities will show their projects for innovation to the interested companies and potential partners.

TO MEET PARTNER TO WORK WITH

Nanoforum represents a concrete moment where research meets business. Dedicated meetings and net-working will improve contacts among participants: if companies have a research department, they will find the right answers to their needs by questioning the experts in the field; on the contrary, if companies do not have a research department, they will be able to understand "what" and "how" to use micro, nano and advanced technologies.

Company Directors, Research&Development Managers and Advisors, Research Strategists and Marketing Managers, Scientists, talented Students and Researchers, Science Parks and Universities Representatives will find an important occasion to know and to meet.

TO JOIN US

Nanoforum will take place at the Faculty of Civil and Industrial Engineering of Sapienza University of Rome, St. Peter in Chains' Campus, Via Eudossiana 18 – Rome, next to stop "Cavour" or "Colosseo" of Underground - Line B.

A Guide-Catalogue of the event will be distributed to all attendees during the registration.
